

PROVIDING OPTICAL ELEMENTS OVER EMISSIVE DISPLAYS

Abstract of the Disclosure

A display may be formed of a plurality of abutted tiles, each tile contributing a portion of the overall displayed image. Optical elements may be selectively situated between pixels to improve the optical performance of the display. In some embodiments, these optical elements may facilitate the use of relatively thicker cover glasses over the display tiles.

10

卷之三